

HOW TO CATCH A CHEATER STARRING...

THE TEN MOST WANTED

The Architect:
Set goals and thinks through test security strategies.

The Detective:
Looks for clues in data forensic analyses to invalidate scores, recognize exam irregularities and program misconduct.

The Conductor:
Manages the test security program and communicates the importance of test security-awareness.

The Techie:
Ensures the right levels of computer and system access are administered and monitored.

The Prosecutor:
Investigates test security breaches to determine who is responsible.

The Reporter:
Monitors secure test administrations, keeping a keen eye out for peculiar test taking behaviors.

The Surfer:
Finds and removes stolen test content from the web and social media sites.

The Patrol Officer:
Keeps a watchful eye over the physical environment of a testing organization.

The Sculptor:
Crafts theft-resistant items and clones to extend item pools and thwart cheaters.

The Oracle:
Anticipates testing maleficence by creating and managing a security incidence response plan.

TRAITS OF AN EXAM SECURITY PROFESSIONAL